It is customary with the Catholic people to hold what is called "May Devotions" every Wednesday and Friday during the month of May. The last of these services was held Friday evening which was largely attended by little girls dressed in white with bouquets of flowers in their hands and wreaths of flowers on their heads. The service consisted mostly of singing.

William P. Woodring, son of J. D. Woodring, of West Reynoldsville, was born on Decoration Day twenty-one years ago, and last Thursday he reached his majority, or in other words, the age when he is legally his own boss. A dozen of Will's young gentlemen friends were invited to assist in celebrating the occasion by partaking of a bountiful repast served at the home of his parents Thursday evening.

E. D. Davis, an enterprising farmer of Clarion township, Clarion county, was married to Miss Alice L. Wells, daughter of W. W. Wells of West Reynoldsville, at the home of the bride's parents at 5:00 p. m., May 29th, in the presence of about two dozen friends and relatives. Rev. E. Lewis Kelley, pastor of the Baptist church, tied the nuptial knot. An elegant supper was served after the marriage ceremony. On Monday Mr. Davis and his bride went to their home in Clarion county to settle down to farm life.

Elmer Watson was at Clearfield last week attending the funeral of his uncle, George Watson, who dropped dead in the old cemetery at Clearfield while engaged in cleaning the cemetery on the 28th ult. for Decoration Day. The funeral was held on Friday, just two weeks after his brother, Joseph Watson, was buried at this place. George was at Reynoldsville attending the funeral in apparently good health. Heart trouble is supposed to have caused his sudden death.

Thomas S. McCreight, one of the most enterprising and best farmers of Winslow township, drove through one hundred and fifty miles of the best farming country in Pennsylvania last week on his way to Washington county, and he says there was no oats in all that distance that was in as good condition as the oats on his own farm in Winslow township. Mr. McCreight thinks the frost done more damage in other farming communities between this and Washington township than it did here.

He delivered an address at that place Wednesday evening. He delivered an address at Rathmel in the forenoon, went to Penfield on the 1:00 p. m. train, delivered an address before the old soldiers and their friends and returned to Reynoldsville on the 8:42 p. m. train.

MEMORIAL DAY FITTINGLY OBSERVED IN REYNOLDSVILLE.

Flags, Flowers, Music and a Big Parade in the Forenoon.

The old veterans of the civil war whose remains lie buried in the cemeteries hereabouts were not forgotten on Decoration Day, and their graves were strewn with beautiful spring flowers that had been gathered especially for that purpose.

The parade formed in line on Main street at 8:45 A. M., in the following order: Methodist Episcopal, Baptist, Presbyterian and Catholic Sunday school children, carrying beautiful flowers; Prescottville Cornet band; Fire Co. No. 1; Fire Co. No. 2; Sons of St. George; P. O. S. of A.; Firing Squad; Sons of Veterans and Grand Army Post. The parade was a credit to Reynoldsville and an honor to the living soldiers and to the memory of those who sacrificed life on their country's altar or who have since been tenderly lowered to the tomb. The sun came down the near way and when the procession reached the entrance to Benlah and opened ranks to allow the G. A. R. to pass through and receive the flowers from the children, the red faces of all in line was evidence that it was a very hot day.

Commander F. K. Mullen, Marshall Joseph Shaffer, Chaplain Wilder Boyle, of the G. A. R., and Commander A. M. Wadding, of S. of V., had charge of the services in the cemetery, which were held over the grave of an "Unknown," after which the old soldiers scattered flowers over the graves of all of their departed comrades. A delegation was sent to the Baptist, Pleasant Avenue and Catholic cemeteries to place flowers on the graves of the soldiers buried in those places.

Large flags were hung across Main street and many business places and private dwellings were well covered with small flags. A number of the business places were closed while the parade was forming in line as a token of respect to the soldier boys.

In place of having some kind of exercises in the afternoon as has been the custom, many of the G. A. R. men and other citizens of this place went to Rathmel where appropriate exercises were held.

"Oh! thus be it ever, when freemen shall stand
Between our loved home and the war's desolation,
Blessed with victory and peace may the heaven-recovered land
Praise the power that hath made and preserved us a nation;
Then conquer we must, for our cause it is just,
And this our motto, 'In God is our Trust';
And the star-spangled banner in triumph shall wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave."

Work of New School Board.

The new school board of this borough, which is composed of the following named gentlemen, was organized in Esq. M. M. Davis' office Monday afternoon: M. M. Brown, George Mellinger, Peter Burkhart, M. M. Davis, J. R. Pentz and Wm. King. F. M. Brown was elected president, M. M. Davis secretary, and W. B. Alexander treasurer. The trusteeship was given to the lowest bidder. Alexander's bid was one-half of one per cent.

The first business of the new board was to hear the bids for the erection of the new school house. There were seventeen bids handed in. Allen & Nixon, of Titusville, Pa., were the lowest bidders and will get the contract as soon as the school bonds are sold. Their bid was $26,300. The next lowest bid was A. M. Meador's of Pittsburgh, $26,981. The highest bid was $35,500. J. V. Young was the only Reynoldsville man who put in a bid. His was $30,217.

The following teachers were elected for the ensuing year: Room No. 1, Prof. T. R. Hillard, principal; No. 2, W. C. Henry; No. 3, Miss Mildred Fuller; No. 4, Clarence Henry; No. 5, A. J. They Must Stop.

EDITOR STAR:—Permit me to say, through your columns, that there are a number of boys, and in fact some who have passed their boyhood days, that are making a practice of going onto the property of the Central Land and Mining Co. where the Swartz mill use to be and there they expose themselves with the brute creation. Unless they stop this practice the aforesaid company will bring all guilty parties to justice. We hope all parties will take warning, for if they do not we will see to it that they do. The names of a number of the parties have been secured but if they stop now nothing will be done with the matter. CENTRAL LAND & M. CO., PER J. J. SUTTER.

Don't Know Him Here.

Rev. Savage, of Reynoldsville, passed through town this morning, on his way to Big Run, where he delivered a Memorial Day address.—DuBois Express, May 30th. Will the Express please tell us what denomination Rev. Savage preaches for and how long he has been in Reynoldsville?

Hammock Upset.

A mule is a treacherous animal, and so are some hammocks. A young man of this place walked home with another young man's "Sunday girl" one evening last week and when they arrived at the maiden's home they sat down in the hammock. It was only for a second, for the "pesky" hammock kicked up and two pieces of humanity dropped on the porch in any way but graceful and easy. The young man may possess the skill to manipulate the necessary instrument to extract a naughty molar, but he can not ride an unruly hammock.

C. E. Lytle Married To-day.

Chas. E. Lytle, at one time train dispatcher in the A. V. R'y Co. office at this place, now superintendent of the D. S. S. & A., with headquarters at Marquette, Mich., passed through Reynoldsville yesterday in his special car on his way to Ridgway, where he will be married at 8:00 A. M. to-day to Miss Hattie Oyster, daughter of D. C. Oyster. Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Benscoter, Cad. Z. Gordon, of Brookville, and R. B. Taylor, of Butler, were on Lytle's car to attend the wedding. Mr. Lytle is superintendent of six hundred miles of railroad.

Walter L. Main's Animal Exhibit.

The managerie department of The Great Walter L. Main shows is undoubtedly the most complete ever exhibited in one collection. The amount of money invested in this one department would more than equal, twice over, the amount of money invested in the entire outfit of ordinary shows. A great many dens of rare wild beasts are displayed daily, in the magnificent street parade, which is free to all, and the drove of elephants, camels, dromedaries and other led animals is worth coming many miles to see. These great shows will be seen in all their vast entirety at Brookville, June 8th.

Stewart for Judge.

Under the proper heading in this issue will be found the announcement of William F. Stewart, Esq. of Brookville, for President Judge. The Republican says: "Mr. Stewart is well and favorably known in all parts of Jefferson county. For twenty-eight years past he has been a practicing attorney at the Jefferson county bar, and has not only been an energetic and attentive practitioner, but a diligent student, and for years he has ranked among the leading attorneys of the State, eminently successful in the conduct of many of the most difficult and intricate cases that have come before our courts. His ability, experience and deportment as a gentleman who would give dignity to a high and honorable position mark him as in every way a suitable candidate for the office to which he aspires."

Head Crushed.

On Friday three brothers named Penrose from Eleanor were at DuBois attending the wedding of another brother and got well filled up with "tangle foot." They got off the train at Sykesville and started to walk home and overtook a wagon load of beer. There were two tiers of beer kegs and one keg on top of tiers. Ben Penrose, one of the party, got onto the one keg to ride. They had not gone far until the wagon ran into a depression in the road and Penrose fell off and the hind wheel of the heavily loaded wagon caught him under the chin and ran up over his right ear, crushing the back of his head into a jelly. The man died soon afterwards. His remains were buried at Eleanor Sunday. Penrose was about thirty years old. He leaves a wife and four children.

Fell From a Car Window.

Saturday evening as the train for Punxsutawney, leaving here at 8 o'clock, was pulling out from the station the infant child of Jas. Henrietta, engineer of the train, fell from the car window. The babe is about a year old and was accompanied by its mother. The car window had been raised and the child placed on the seat next to the window. As the train started Mrs. Henrietta turned her attention in another direction for a moment. As she did so the child went out of the window head first. The conductor saw the child disappear through the window and applied the air brakes, stopping the train before it had gone its length. The child was picked up and found to have sustained only a slight cut on the forehead. It was given into its mother's arms and the train proceeded on its way without loss of time.—DuBois Courier.

SOLDIER BOYS HONORED.

Rathmel Had the Drawing Card this year on Decoration Day.

For a number of years the citizens of Rathmel and vicinity have been coming to Reynoldsville to participate in Decoration Day exercises held at this place, but this year was an exception to that rule, and by a good mixture of energy, push and patriotism Rathmel drew the crowd from Reynoldsville in the afternoon. Washington Camp No. 602, P. O. S. of A., had charge of the exercises of the day. J. L. Marshall, D. E. Phillips and S. S. Haines, the committee, and all others who assisted, deserves credit for the manner in which Rathmel so grandly observed Decoration Day. The people of that village decorated their dwellings and places of business elaborately with flags, bunting and spruce. Never before has that town been bedecked in gala attire as it was on this occasion. Three large arches spanned the Main street, besides numerous small ones over private gates. The large arches were at John Smith's, Mike Kallife's and G. B. Bowser's.

Arrangements were made by the committee for a full day. In the morning at nine o'clock a parade was formed with almost five hundred in line as follows: Steel Union Sunday school, M. E. S. S., Church of God S. S., Union S. S., Cadets of Temperance, K. of P., P. O. D. of A., P. O. S. of A., G. A. R. The procession with Dr. E. Q. McHenry and S. S. Haines as Marshalls, marched to Prospect cemetery, the entrance to which was handsomely decorated. The exercises there consisted of singing, prayer, and an able address by Rev. Herbert Rex Johnson, music by band and strewing flowers on the graves of the departed.

In the afternoon a program, which was announced in THE STAR two weeks ago, was rendered before a large audience, larger than the hall could comfortably accommodate. The P. O. S. of A. served dinner and supper in their hall and swelled their treasury greatly thereby.

The Rathmel people certainly done themselves proud on this occasion, and will be encouraged to demonstrate sometime again. If Reynoldsville had the energy, according to population, that Rathmel has when it comes to having a celebration, no town within a hundred miles could down Reynoldsville in drawing crowds.

Council Meeting.

Town council met in regular session on Monday evening, June 3rd. Members present Reynolds, McClelland, Robertson, Ritzle and Heckman; absent, Shields.

The ordinance for the opening of Grant and Tenth streets passed second reading, and publication of the same was directed.

The ordinance for planking of Main, Tenth, Jackson and Fifth streets passed second reading, and on motion Saturday July 20th, 1895, was fixed as the day for holding the election on the question of an increase of the borough indebtedness for that purpose, and on motion the amount of the proposed increase was fixed at $8,000.00.

Wm. Reed was appointed ass't chief of police, and on motion the pay for all special policemen was fixed at $1.75 per day or night, as the case may be.

Council next proceeded to the election of a borough treasurer. On the first ballot W. B. Alexander and J. R. Pentz each received two votes and W. H. Bell one vote; on the second ballot J. R.
